

DOV GOLDSTEIN

Managing Partner

An intuitive problem solver and partner, Dov is valued by clients and team members alike for his commitment and strength as an exceptional strategist, cultural planner and project leader. He has led and managed many of Lord's largest and most complex projects in Canada, the U.S. and around the globe.

Dov's background in urban planning allows him to deeply understand the value and importance of culture as a driver for healthy, liveable and sustainable communities. The core of his work focuses on the intersection of cultural and creative places and spaces that seek to engage with visitors and the public realm.

During his 15 years with Lord, Dov has led and been part of the leadership team for a range of projects in both the public and private sectors. His portfolio includes engagement with a wide range of organizations and institutions, from museums, public libraries and public gardens to private companies and governments at all levels.

Recent projects of note include:

- Toronto Public Library, Culture Plan (Toronto)
- St. Lawrence Market District, Strategic Plan (Toronto)
- Google Visitor Center (Mountain View, CA)
- Remail Modern, Strategic Plan (Saskatoon)
- Trans Canada Trail – Strategy for Success (across Canada)
- Niagara Parks Power Station, Interpretive Plan (Niagara Falls, Canada)
